Fools Mass

Wednesday, October 29, 2008

6:20 – 7:20 p.m.

New Brunswick Theological Seminary

A motley group of medieval village idiots are forced to enact their own mass due to the untimely death of their beloved pastor. Though it sounds grim, Fools Mass is full of buffoonery and comic audience participation. This, along with choral singing of sacred hymns and chants, combines to create a work which travels from the ridiculous to the sublime. Free for students, faculty, staff, $15.00 suggested donation for general public
